This series is well written and well acted. Recommended for any lovers of Morse, Sherlock Holmes, etc. the package arrived in advance of expected date it was in perfect condition.

Brian Cox stars as the Victorian detective in a further nine episodes of the BBC Radio 4 series. Inspired by the real-life memoirs of one of Scotlands first policemen, James McLevy prowls the dark streets of 1860s Edinburgh bringing criminals to justice, with the assistance of Constable Mulholland. In Behind the Curtain, a theatrical landlady receives a chilling death threat. In A Voice from the Grave, it is summertime, and the heat is on as McLevy tracks a brutal killer. In The Dark Shadow, a jewel theft brings an infamous criminal within McLevys grasp. In Servant of the Crown, the detective joins Her Majestys protection squad to hunt an assassin. In A Piece of Cake, a top chef is the toast of the city but burglary and murder are on the menu. In The Sea Change, theres something fishy about the Fairs star attraction, the lovely Little Mermaid. In Sins of the Fathers, a runaway bridegroom and a blackmailer spell double trouble for McLevy. In The Devils Disguise, the Devil comes a-calling for the detective on Halloween. Finally, in the Christmas Special, McLevy stalks a supernatural thief who is haunting the streets of Edinburgh. Written by David Ashton, these atmospheric radio dramas co-star Siobhn Redmond as Jean Brash and Michael Perceval-Maxwell as Constable Mulholland.

"It was consistently above the run of any mill. You could smell the fish, the whores and the cordite. This was everything afternoon radio was invented for." Guardian
