device or a gadget from Bed, Bath and Beyond? Split Decisions is a 50:50 trivia game made by the editors at mental_floss. In each question you are given an entry and two categories. Your goal is to work out which category the entry belongs to. Is Eccrine Nevus a skin disease or a Harry Potter spell? The book contains over 100 pages of just Split Decisions. You're given 6 entries for each "question". What you couldn't tell from the cover was this book is actually a scratch-and-solve book. You scratch little circles for each question to see if you're right or wrong. Full answers are given on the next page. Is Heart Throb a Care Bear or a My Little Pony? Is Fissure of Sylvius a part of your brain or a part of the moon? Those who are familiar with mental_floss will know that their leaders of trivia. These mini-quizzes are high quality and provide joyful minutes of head-scratching. It's a really good diverse from a lot of typical quiz books out there. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Bran18 So much fun, we read this over dinner and everyone enjoys it 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. So many things you didn't know By Elise Just received the board game to go with this and can't wait to challenge some one. You can be positive about an answer and most often be wrong. Good party game for all ages.

Trivia magazine mental_floss presents a new puzzle sensation: Split Decision. Each trivia question presents six challenges, and it's up to solvers to decide which category each challenge fits. For instance, which is a Real Person and which is a Marketing Invention: Betty Crocker, Chef Boyardee, and Duncan Hines? Answers include a fun fact like "Before he was a brand of cake mix, Duncan Hines was a restaurant critic." Making decisions has never been so much fun!
